Postponing the conference is aimed at removing any additional risk posed to delegates and faculty alike.

In line with the booking terms and conditions via Aesculap Academia – where we can provide a new date, your booking will be automatically transferred over in its entirety.

Refunds will be available to those who are unable to attend the rescheduled conference date. These refunds will be processed through the Eventbrite ticketing system upon request, only after the new conference date has been announced. We plan to announce the new dates next week.

As you can appreciate the decision to postpone this conference has not been taken lightly. There are many logistical issues to overcome in rescheduling the conference and therefore more details regarding the postponement of this conference will follow as they unfold.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation in this matter.
